Hyde plans Douglass Crockwell show, seeks his works

By Cathy DeDe
Chronicle Managing Editor

The Hyde Collection seeks the public's help for a 2016 exhibition it has titled The Other Rockwell: Douglass Crockwell, to run in conjunction with the Hyde's upcoming Norman Rockwell show.

Douglass Crockwell, born in 1904, lived and worked in Glens Falls from 1932 until his death in 1968. He lived on East Sanford Street.

Crockwell, much like his contemporary Norman Rockwell, was famous for his illustrative paintings created for the Saturday Evening Post, Life, Look,

Douglass Crockwell's 1960 illustration for an Ocean Spray cranberry sauce advertisement depicts generations of a family enjoying Thanksgiving. Crockwell lived on Sanford Street and utilized local people as models. Here the actual people depicted (clockwise from left) include the late Glen Caffry (then a prominent Glens Falls attorney); his wife Jane (Caffry Hawn), tending to their young son John Caffry (now a Glens Falls attorney); and, standing, the late Dr. John and Charlotte Canaday (Jane's parents). If the other three figures depict actual people, their identity is not known.

If Trump triumphs, who runs next?

By Mark Frost
Chronicle Editor

Because I'm a worrier, I'm thinking far beyond the outcome of the 2016 Presidential election.

I'm thinking about what happens if Donald Trump wins.

Even if he doesn't win, if the Donald just gets the Republican nomination, it will transform politics in this country.

We'll have looked behind the curtain and seen that anyone with a following (and money) can stake a claim.

Gone will be the presumption that you have to be a suited/pantsuited credentialed politico to be a potential serious candidate for President.

Anybody who's famous, anybody who's "hot," anybody who's the man or woman or transgen-
