Latest on Bonacio's GF plan

One less floor, more apartments, less retail

A preliminary look at what Sonny Bonacio's $27-million mixed-use project on Hudson Avenue in downtown Glens Falls will look like. Rendering by the L.A. Group for Bonacio Construction and the Galesi Group

GF project takes shape

Developer Sonny Bonacio's $27-million mixed-use project on Hudson Avenue in downtown Glens Falls will now be five floors, not six, but will include 10 more apartments than originally proposed.

A press release from the Galesi Group, which is partnering with Bonacio Construction, said the five-story building will now include 90 apartments, up from 80 first proposed, and 31,000 square feet of retail on the first floor, down from 40,000 proposed in its initial plans.

There will be 13,000 square feet of office space on the second floor, up from 9,075 square feet originally proposed. A basement

Coe's return a coup for Hyde

By Cathy DeDe

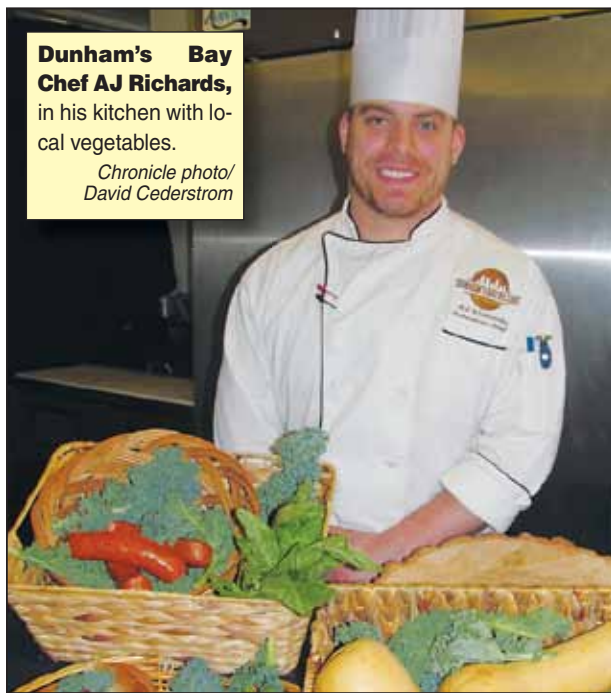

Chronicle Managing Editor

Erin Coe is coming back to the Hyde Collection.

The Hyde's former Chief Curator, a formidable presence for 15 years at the signature art museum in Glens Falls, Ms. Coe has been hired as the Hyde's new director.

If anything can quiet the rumblings engendered by recent changes at The Hyde Collection — beside Ms. Coe's planned departure last July, and director Charles Guerin's admitted "sudden" decision to

Push for local foods in local restaurants

By David Cederstrom

Chronicle Staff Writer

About 70 people — including 25 chefs and farmers from 23 regional farms — attended a conference on "Increasing Local Food in Restaurant Menus" on March 26 at Dunham's Bay Resort.

The event was sponsored by Adirondack Harvest, SUNY Adirondack and the Tri-County Transition Initiative.

"This is the first step toward a series of dining festivals featuring local food and craft beverages...in the Lake George Region," said the event
