Stunningly beautiful Marilyn Monroe, then 23, being interviewed by Carl Mattison for WWSC radio in Glens Falls in 1949, when she was here for the dream house giveaway in Warrensburg. Mark Mattison, Carl's son, provided the photo for The Chronicle's use. He believes it's never been seen publicly before.

How will the bank be reused

By Gordon Woodworth
Chronicle News Editor

The 100-year-old marble bank building next to Crandall Library in downtown Glens Falls will soon be vacant and listed for sale. TD Bank said its branch at 237 Glen Street will close as of Friday, Jan. 29.

TD Bank spokeswoman Lisa Sawicki, responding to our inquiry, said the bank's "real estate team is working on the marketing package, which will include details about square footage and parking," she said. "As soon as I have that information, I will share with you."

Full-market value of the building is put at $1.766-million by the City of Glens Falls.

But developer Peter Hoffman says, "It's worth less than half

Hoffman & Kaidas doubt it works as living space, citing cost & no parking.
