The tragic death of Trooper Pratt

By Gordon Woodworth
Chronicle News Editor

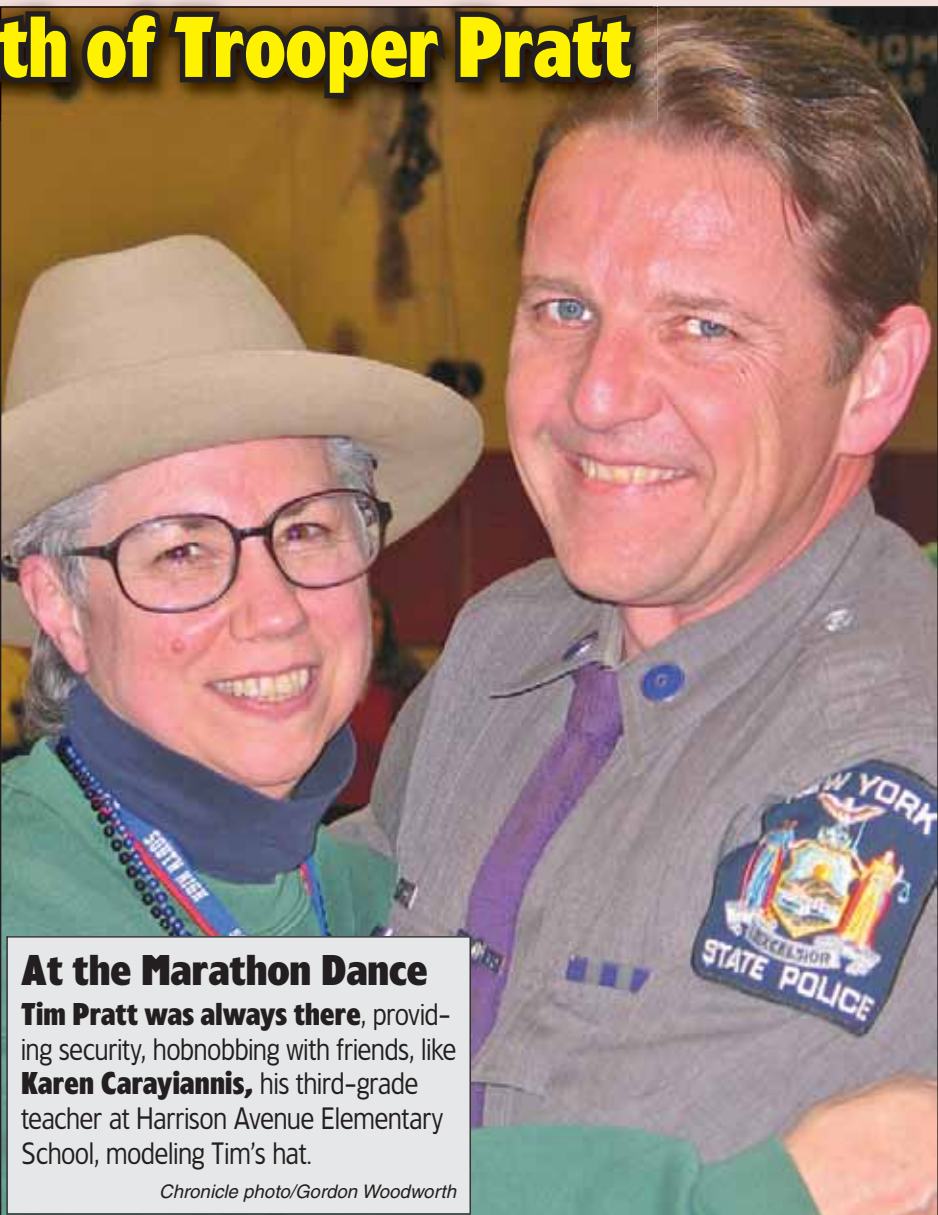

Tim Pratt, 55, was the pride of South Glens Falls. One of seven Pratt kids who grew up on Clark Street, Timmy was a Bulldog through and through, the son of community stalwarts Ruth and Town Justice Edward Pratt, himself a retired State Police sergeant. A 1979 South High graduate, Tim was a stock boy at the Joy Store and also worked at Rich Aluminum near the bowling alley before serving in the U.S. Air Force.

South Glens Falls mainstay, constantly helping others.

The 30-year New York State Trooper, who died last week when he was struck in darkness by an SUV while he was helping a lost trucker on Ballard Road, embodied his community's loving spirit. He was always helping people. It was his mission, his consistent focus.

At the Marathon Dance

Tim Pratt was always there, providing security, hobnobbing with friends, like Karen Carayiannis, his third-grade teacher at Harrison Avenue Elementary School, modeling Tim's hat.
