

Year-round camping cabins

By Mark Frost

Chronicle Editor

Moreau Lake State Park has six cedar cabins under construction on the eastern edge of the park that, for the first time, will allow for year-round camping. Also for the first time, some will allow people to bring their dogs along.

"People are so excited," said Park Manager Peter Iskenderian in reply to a Chronicle inquiry.

He said the cabins will "be ready for rental in May."

Winter use is enabled because "they have woodstoves," said Mr. Iskenderian.

He said rates for the fair weather months haven't been set yet. "We're still figuring that out," but he said off-season they'll be $40 a night for the 4-person cabins and $60 a night for the 6-person cabins.

Like the three existing cabins at Moreau Lake State Park, these will be available "by the week only" from the "first week in May to Columbus Day, when they're in very high demand, said Mr. Iskenderian.

Off-season, campers will be able to rent the new cabins by the night.

The building project resulted from "the state realizing that

Bill Parks tackles Norway

By David Cederstrom

Chronicle Staff Writer

Bill Parks, the 73-year-old retired Glens Falls High School teacher and long-time coach, will travel to Norway in March to compete in the historical 33.55-mile Birkebeiner cross-country ski race that annually draws up to 17,000 participants.

Besides competing, Mr. Parks is making it a fund-raiser for The Friends of Cole's Woods, which maintains Can Lewis Super in its 67th year survive Golubs' FE 'Market 32'?

By Mark Frost

Chronicle Editor

Lewis Super in Hudson Falls, one of the last local independent supermarkets, will shortly face a significant new challenge. Price Chopper parent Golub Corporation will open a new Market 32 store in Fort Edward, behind the McDonald's on Broadway.

Can Lewis Super survive? "I think so," says Debbie Lewis, who operates the store with her husband Em. "We have a good customer base, a loyal customer
