Says Post Star free weekly keeps coming despite protest

Dear Mark,

I am writing you on a rainy Sunday morning, having spent most of my Saturday morning working on my yard only to come home Sat. evening to find yet AN-OTHER Post Star trash bag on my front lawn! — despite having contacted the editorial dept. of the Post Star weeks ago and being told how sorry they are that this has happened to me.

I was directed by them to their circulation director, whom I so dutifully contacted with my complaint. After having been

Down- town update

By Mark Frost
Chronicle Editor

I love The Chronicle's neighborhood and it dawned on me the other day that we've seen tremendous change in recent months.

For instance:
Morin's Dive Center around the corner on Warren Street closed — culmination of a long-term game plan. It saddens me because Rich Morin was our back-door neighbor for many years and I always enjoyed talking with him — but when your passion and your livelihood are both scuba diving, it makes eminent sense to buy a home in the U.S. Virgin Islands and re-settle there. Nice move.

The short-lived Saratoga Sundress, also on Warren Street, opened and closed so fast that it maybe didn't register on a lot of people but it did on me. I was in-
