Backs Trump foreign policy over Obama

To the Editor:
[In response to Chronicle Foreign Correspondent Max Frost's July 26 article, 'Whose Side Are You On?']

I am on America's side. I am certain that is the way every one of us who voted for the President would answer your question.

Nearly every instance noted in the article written by the Chronicle Foreign Correspondent took place during the prior administration. You know, that very administration that scoffed about a return of 1980's foreign policy.

It is interesting the piece used post-2015 aggression by Russia as a starting point. It is a cutoff date that precedes, by more than a year, President Trump.

In fact the Russian problems illuminated were largely a direct

Amity & Tony choose retro camping style

By Sandra Hutchinson

Chronicle Chief Operating Officer
When Glens Falls family Amity Luce-Aurilio, her husband Tony Aurilio and their son Laken go "camping," they tend to attract a lot of attention.

Their set-up consists of a 1975 orange

Volkswagen camper bus with the license plate "Sonkist," and a 1961 orange and white Shasta Airflyte camper trailer.

The couple painstakingly repaired and restored the vehicles and searched out original of-the-era accessories, as well as reproduction parts, like the shiny "wings" that adorn the rear of the trailer. They relax in 1960s-style aluminum lawn chairs and settee with strap seats and cook
