Vying to be Sheriff

By Gordon Woodworth
 Chronicle News Editor

Warren County Sheriff Bud York is retiring. Shawn Lamouree and Jim LaFarr are seeking the Republican nomination to succeed him in a June 25th primary. The Republican nominee becomes the favorite to win the November election, though both candidates could continue their run on third-party lines. So far no Democrat has entered the race.

Both contestants in the GOP primary are long-time members of the Sheriff's Office. Mr. Lamouree, 52, started with the Sheriff's Office in 1988, and has been Undersheriff since 2012. He already has the Independence Party line in November. Mr. LaFarr, 48, joined the department in 1991, and has been a Major since 2012 and now oversees administrative duties. He has the Conservative Party line in November. Sheriff York is backing Mr.

Allison Ross and Nelson Hernandez are both officers in the New York City Police Department. They came separately to Americade years ago, Allison said, adding, "This is our first time together." She rides a 2016 Harley-Davidson Sportster 1200. He's on a 2013 Harley Fat Boy Low.

"We come up here to get away from the grind of the city," Nelson said. "The scenery and Lake George are beautiful. And I like to look at the accessories, and meet other people with the same interests."

By Cathy DeDe

When Queensbury grad Delaney Silvernell takes the stage at the Times Union Center on Friday night, June 28, it'll be a heady moment. "It's my childhood dream venue," Delaney told The Chronicle on Monday afternoon, speaking by phone from her home in Los Angeles. She'd delayed the interview because she was called in to her regular gig — behind the counter at a pizza place.

"I feel like Hannah Montana sometimes," she says — with her regular life as an incognito L.A. woman, and the occasional bouts of super-star performing gigs coming in the wake of her high-profile turn on NBC's The Voice last season. She's opening for Madison VanDerburg, the Latham teen who just made it to the Top 3 fi

HF: Morans' $500,000 gift to redo Derby Park

By Gordon Woodworth
 Chronicle News Editor

Brien and Mike Moran, whose Moran's Sporting Goods Store was a Hudson Falls mainstay that supplied athletic gear and bicycles to generations of local kids, are donating $500,000 to kick off a $1.1-million complete renovation of Derby Park in Hudson Falls.

The gift was announced Tuesday morning at a press conference in the former Washington County Courthouse building in downtown Hudson Falls. "This community has been my life," said Mike Moran. "Brien and I have both lived here all of our lives. We're very proud of it, and this is our way to give back. This is what a small community needs to help bring back self-pride. "It drives me crazy to drive by Derby Park and see very little activity. Now it's going to
