

Hudson Falls in full-scale glory!

By Mark Frost
 Chronicle Editor

There are moments when I absolutely have to be in the room. Saturday night was one of those times.

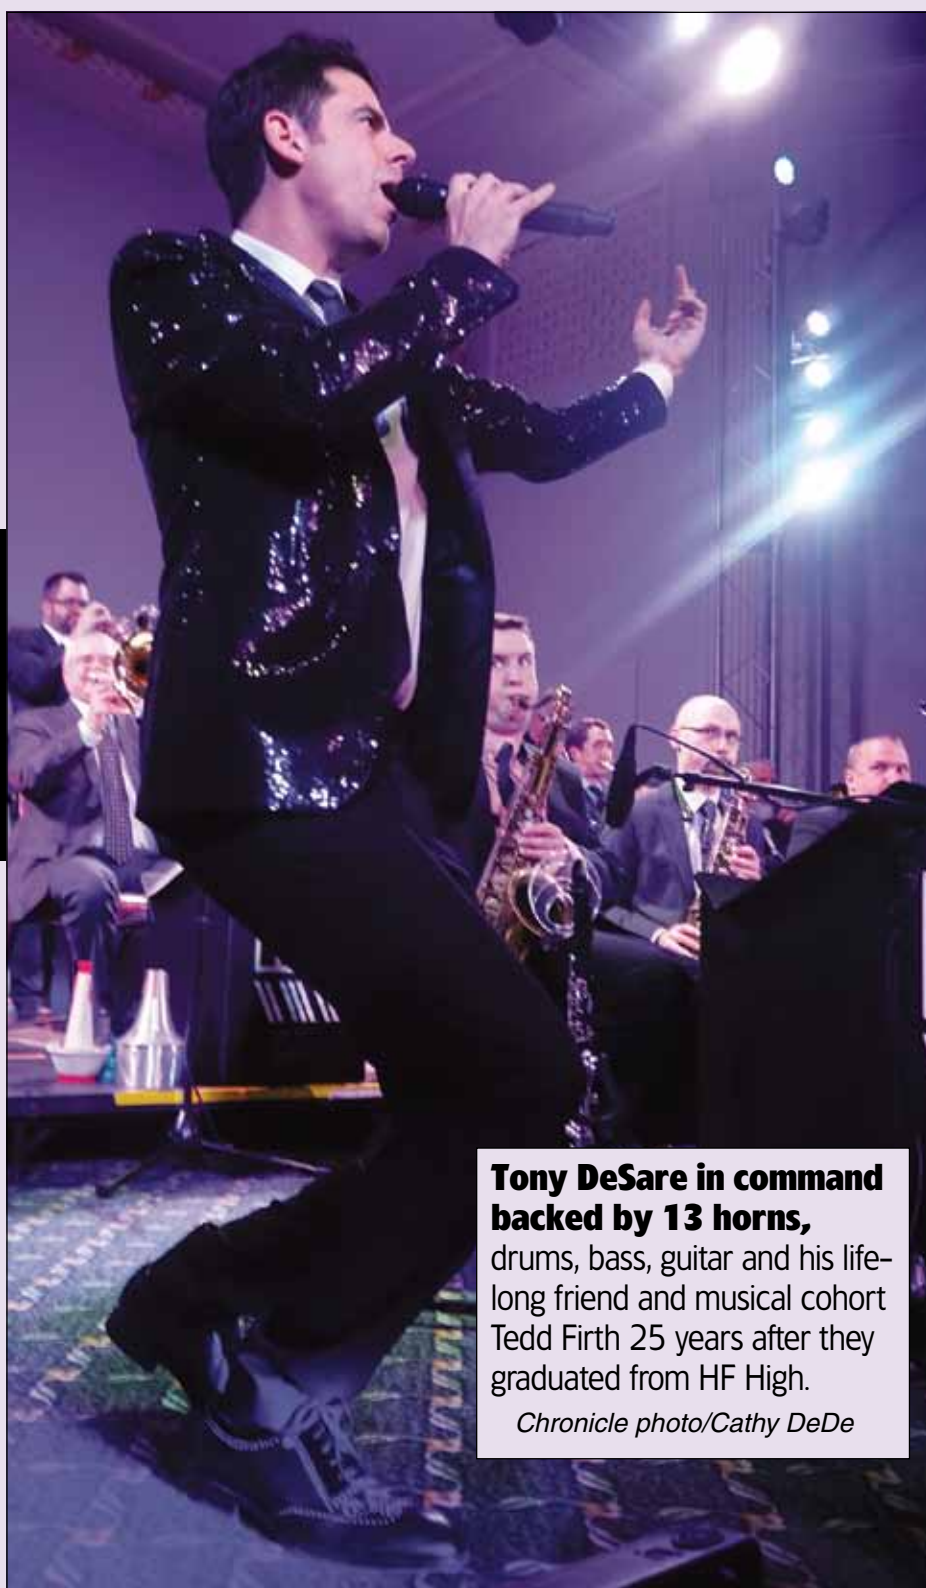

Two hometown guys who've made it large were performing in celebration of the Strand Theater, newly revived and the best, most hopeful

Yanks, Astros Wow!

By Mark Frost
 Chronicle Editor

Baseball is dying, they say, but the relentless intensity of the series the Houston Astros won Saturday over the New York Yankees was a reminder why America's pastime isn't past after all.

Pitch by pitch, in a seven-game series with two excellent teams vying for the championship, the tension ratchets up more dramatically than any other sport.

Even though the Yankees came into Sunday down two games to one in a best-of-seven to decide who goes to the World Series, there was no question they could turn it around.

Houston jumped to a 3-0 lead. The Yanks made it 3-1, then 3-2. Going into the ninth inning, the Astros led 4-2, their ace closer Roberto Osuna on for the save.

Then, BOOM!, DJ LeMahieu hits a two-run homer just beyond the reach of George Springer. Game tied, 4-4!

Now it's the Yankees ace closer, Aroldis Chapman in the for save.

If he comes through, the Yanks are on to game seven, facing Gerrit Cole who hasn't lost a game since May and thus is ripe for a

Hopes Chronicle editor will urge Rep. Stefanik to back impeachment

Mr. Frost,

In the last "Inside Scoop" you wrote of your wishful thinking that Nikki Haley could be the 2020 Republican candidate for President.

I suggest you use your pulpit to take concrete steps to save our Republic and show we are "America the Great." How meaningful it would be if the Chronicle urged Congresswoman Stefanik to support the impeachment inquiry.

Expects Trump to be re-elected; Warren is 'economically unrealistic'

Hi Mark,

Interesting perspective on the 2020 match-up. I don't think President Trump will be removed

Sees proposed Exit 17 redo as non-sensical

Hi Mark —

I was surprised there did not seem to be any follow-up to Gordon Woodworth's front-page article of Sept. 26 about the proposed changes to Exit
