Hiking hot might kill your dog

The New York State Department of Environmental Conservation reports: Every summer DEC forest rangers receive calls for dogs in distress, especially on hot days.

Pet owners often overestimate how physically fit their dog is, how much water their dog will need, or how walking on scalding hot rock can negatively affect canines.

DEC warns pet owners to avoid bringing their dogs hiking with them in the summer.

Dogs hiking in warm temperatures are at risk of experiencing heat exhaustion and death.

They're rescuing a Glens Falls classic

Chronicle editor Mark Frost writes: For $55,000, Mark and Cindy Thornquist bought and are now rehabbing the 181-year-old Russell Little house on Center Street in Glens Falls. (It's just off Warren Street, up from the old Post Office.)

The structure may be most familiar now for its purple paint color, although

All is not hopeless, fireworks fans. Fourth of July weekend fireworks are cancelled in Lake George, Glens Falls and so many other places. But at press time several locations still were planning to host shows.

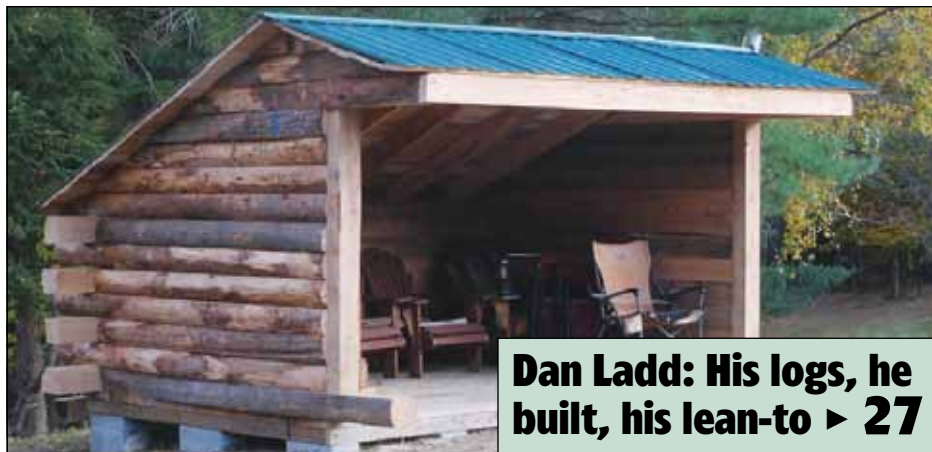

It's little bit of the wild, wild west on Independence Day 2020, as venues are deciding what to do amid what they say is unclear guidance from the state.

Tonight, Thursday, July 2, the Village of Granville plans a fireworks show set to DJ music on the Little League field. It was still unclear as of Tuesday whether cars will be allowed onto the field for viewing, but organizers say the display will be visible throughout town. A live concert planned as part of the event was cancelled after warnings against it by state officials.

Friday, July 3, West Mountain ski area in Queensbury plans to put on a show from

Granville clerk: NYS left us in dark about fireworks

"I don't think this snuck up on the Governor," Granville Village Clerk Rick Roberts told The Chronicle. "It's not like July 4th changed dates. I have emailed and called them, but
