

Keeping the Glens Falls in Glens Falls Toyota

By Mark Frost
 Chronicle Editor

Every year Len Romeo called Howard Lebowitz to see if he would sell him his Glens Falls Toyota dealership.

It was such a ritual, Howard recalls, that he'd tell Len, "Has it been a year already?"

Len says the conversation was always cordial. Both men have deep roots in the local car business. Len, best known locally for Carriage Traders used car business in South Glens Falls, also

Fast-growing organic meat farmer buys & son to manage Pole Valley Golf

By Mark Frost
 Chronicle Editor

Mark Faille, who in the past decade has become a major farm presence in Washington County raising "100% grass-fed beef and pasture-raised pork," last Friday bought the 197-acre Pole Valley golf course in the Town of Hartford and renamed it Hartford Greens Country Club.

His son Dylan, 28, is managing it.

Dylan told The Chronicle in a phone interview Sunday evening, "It's really touching how people appreciate that we're keeping it a course, to see how relieved and happy they are."

He said he spent the weekend working 6:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. as the only employee, doing everything from "fueling up carts and sanitizing carts" to "running the register."

"I'm a farmer, man. I'm not scared of the hours." He said some of his father's farm employ-

Plea: Restore quiet in Chestertown!

To the Editor:

My wife and I retired to Chestertown twenty years ago. We thought this would be a quiet town. Boy, were we wrong.

The fall, winter and spring are great.

Now you have the summer. The vacation people arrive. Shooting guns and rifles. Also fireworks. My dog is old and

Urges: GF, clean up Warren St. fountain

Hi Cathy,

You have more connections in Glens Falls than I have, so... something must be done with the fountain on Warren Street, next to the Acupuncture Studio.

It is a stagnant, horrible mess. It is a disgrace to the City of Glens Falls. It is actually green with debris floating
