150 boats in Trump parade on Lake George

Chronicle editor Mark Frost writes: Dave Wick, executive director of the Lake George Park Commission, estimates that 150 boats participated in Sunday's Lake George parade in support of President Donald Trump.

Mr. Wick said there was "no illegal activity that culminated from that event. People were under the speed limit" and "far enough away from shore" where a 5 mile an hour limit applies.

But he said participating boats were "going anywhere between 15 and 20 miles an hour. Most of the boats tended to be cruisers; they throw off a pretty good wake." He likened that many boats together to an "armada."

Warren County Sheriff Jim LaFarr had no comment, nor did the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation.

The Chronicle's understanding is that a public dock at Long Island campsite 13 was washed off its fasteners by the waves and has been repaired, and that a boat docked there was damaged and the campers received "minor injuries." The camper posted

Mark,

I'm a long-time reader of the Chronicle from Queensbury and enjoy it immensely.

For some time I have been mulling an idea to share with you, Town and City leaders and with your readers.

As I often drive along Potter Road near my home lately, I keep focusing on the piles of stone (Item 4) on Potter Road that are destined for completion of the extension of the

Saving her hemlocks

Hi Mark,

On the article about the Ash Borer and the Hemlock Woolly Adelgid [Aug. 13 Chronicle]:

We have had the Hemlock blight here in North Carolina for many, many years — maybe more than 10? It is awful.

Now huge stands of dead hemlocks are apparent on the mountain sides.

But when they first appeared, the local forestry folks advised people they could treat their own trees with a product you pour around the base of the

Ed's mom, on Mark

Editor's note: Lillian Bartholomew is 94. Her son Ed headed EDC Warren County until his death on July 21.

I first remember Mark Frost when he entered kindergarten with my daughter Glenda Bartholomew at Sanford Street School in 1954. Mark and my daughter as I learned were the youngest in the class with both of their birthdays in December, and they were also both left-handed. I also remember when
