Runs for office, has a criminal record: Two views

Mark,

It has been said that a half-truth is a whole lie, and yet people make careers on half-truths, including some elected officials.

A candidate for a Queensbury at-large seat has proven this once again in his full page ads where he states that overcoming alcohol addiction is a strength.

It can be, if it actually occurred. Why does this candidate not tell you that after DWI as well as other criminal offenses over 3 decades, that his most recent conviction was just last

Calls it 'inherently wrong' (Hispanic) farm workers don't get overtime pay

Editor:

[Re: "Dairy farmers, legislators: NY overtime edict would imperil whole industry," Oct. 7 Chronicle]

The Fair Labor Act carved farms out mainly because Southern states were dependent on cheap labor. That labor was largely African American. Today it would seem that carve out remains in place because farms are dependent on cheap Hispanic labor.

There is something inherently wrong with this system, and believe me when I say I am not progressive liberal.

A few points were particularly disturbing beyond the general unfairness.

1. Mr. Dickinson stated the Hispanic workers could not easily find other work. WHY? Certainly we all notice the help wanted signs on the street of every business district. Is it because
