Rail bike biz boom

By Zander Frost

Chronicle Staff Writer

Revolution Rail concludes its rail bike season in North Creek on Oct. 31, very happy with how the business has done in its fifth year. (A few rail bike spots were still available for Halloween weekend at last look.)

"It's been great," owner and co-founder Michael Dupee told The Chronicle in a phone interview. "They're very successful. We've got two different runs here in North Creek; we opened the second one last year for the full season. And those have both gone well.

"We opened an additional run in Hadley-Lake Luzerne right around Memorial Day, we ran weekends there, and we're hoping to expand that next year."

How many people have rid-

5 races to watch

By Mark Frost

Chronicle Editor

The big enchilada, of course, is the Queensbury At-Large race for Warren County Supervisor. It's like the old game Musical Chairs. Four seats, five candidates. When the music stops on Nov. 2, one person's eliminated.

Four of the candidates are incumbent Republicans — Doug Beaty, Brad Magowan, Rachel Seeber and Mike Wild.

Being both incumbent and Republican typically assures victory in Queensbury, and it might well this time, too.

But Brent McDevitt, the fifth candidate, brings some new calculus to the equation. He's a Democrat, but that's not the thrust of his effort. Instead, he's quickly built a high-profile personal brand.

He's running despite a lengthy

Thunder home opener filled the Cool Arena

Some numbers for the Adirondack Thunder home opener, Saturday, Oct. 23:
Arena capacity (during Covid): 5,000.
Official attendance: 4,999.
Thunder lost 3-2 to Newfoundland.
50/50 raffle prize: $2,300.

Chronicle managing editor Cathy DeDe elaborates: We scored in the first 45 seconds and the last two minutes. Lots of penalties and some rough stuff. Thunder players were introduced pre-game to deafening applause; each entered to flames blasting from fire pots on the ice.

Mayor Dan Hall dropped the first puck with his grandson George, 3, a leukemia survivor now clear of cancer, announcer Dan Miner shared.

Paul Pontiff, attorney who passed away earlier this month at age 91, was honored with a moment of silence before the game, and again as 'Hero of the Game' as a U.S. Army veteran.
