American Cemetery in England

Dear Mark, wrote Dave Whitman of Glens Falls. Attached are photos of the Cambridge American Cemetery in England, which Cindy and I visited in July 2019. It contains the graves of 3811 American service members killed in World War II, along with a 'Wall of the Missing' with the names of 5127 more — mostly sailors whose ships were sunk in the Atlantic and aircrew members whose bodies were not recovered. The land for the cemetery was donated by Cambridge University. Very well kept, dignified, and somber. It was a just war that had to be fought, as is the defensive war the Ukrainians are willingly fighting now.

"This looks like it's going to be a breakout year," organizer Christian Dutcher says of the 40th annual Americade Motorcycle Rally.

The event "vrooms" into Lake George — and tours the region — Tuesday to Sunday, May 30 to June 4.

"I'm delighted to say, registrations are ahead of last year, 20 percent, conservatively. We have every reason to believe, if vendors and factories are up and pre-registration has in-
