Q&A: Worst sports letdown

By Mark Frost
Chronicle Editor

Mindful of the Super Bowl LIX this Sunday between the Eagles and Chiefs, we asked our digital subscribers: What's the biggest sports letdown you remember?

Bills' loss to KC. Because it just happened so the pain is still present.

— Tim Montgomery, Lake Luzerne

Game 7 of the 2001 World Series [when the Yankees took a 2-1 lead to the bottom of the ninth inning but lost to the Arizona Diamondbacks, 3-2]

— Dennis Defayette, Queensbury

As a Bills fan for the past 35 years (and a Mets fan for over 40), it's very difficult to narrow this down to one. But I have to

Dr. Fritz, on the origin of Covid & role of Chronicle

Dear Mark
Hello from your Florida fan club. Thank you, yes, you report the news fairly and in an even-handed fashion, and you make it clear when you are editorializing.

As to the opinions of the naysayers, by so doing I believe that you hold true to journalistic ethics, and I appreciate the balanced perspective that you provide. You rightly let the reader reach

Shepard Park amphitheater design unveiled & applauded

By Cathy DeDe
Chronicle Managing Editor

There seemed to be universal appreciation when design of the new Shepard Park Amphitheater was unveiled Thursday, Jan. 30, at the Fort William Henry Carriage House. "It's nice to see so many people care," Lake George Village Mayor Ray Perry told the gathering of about 100 people.

A steering committee ranging from elected officials and architects to events presenters and artists devised the plan. The design — still open to community input, they noted — is by Andy Allison, whose

Adk. Theatre Fest's season: 'Hyper-local'

By Cathy DeDe
Chronicle Managing Editor

It's not the centerpiece, but a reading of former Post-Star editor Ken Tingley's play-in-progress based on his memoir, The Last American Newspaper, is emblematic of the next Adirondack Theatre Festival season.

"If there's ever been an ATF season for the Glens Falls region, it's this one, because of the delicious local connections hidden or not-so-hidden, in every show," Artistic Director Miriam Weisfeld told The

Dixon vs Strough: Qby. Supervisor

By Cathy DeDe & Mark Frost
Chronicle Managing Editor & Editor

Republican G. Michael Dixon will challenge six-term incumbent Democrat John Strough for Queensbury Town Supervisor.

"The residents of Queensbury will have a choice this November. Voters will have the opportunity to choose a Town Supervisor who has strong work ethics, sincerity and the ability to work collaboratively with others," Mr. Dixon said in a press release. He represents Ward 3 in his first term on the Town Board and serves as Deputy Town Supervisor.

Mr. Strough confirmed to The Chronicle, "Yes, I am running" for re-election. He said of his opponent, "Michael Dixon is a very
