Talked it out with Bill & Diana

Chronicle photo/Mark Frost

By Ben Westcott
Chronicle Staff Writer

The Chronicle sat down with Glens Falls mayoral candidates Bill Collins and Diana Palmer, one last time before their June 24 Democratic primary.

The separate interviews served as an opportunity to get to know the candidates more personally and ask pressing questions that hadn't been fully addressed in The Chronicle Conversation with the Candidates on June 2 at Crandall Library.

Mayor Bill Collins, who turns 60 this Saturday, spoke of struggles in his early life with drinking but proudly proclaimed, "I've been sober 32

'No Kings' downtown was festive, too

Chronicle editor Mark Frost writes (revised from print edition): I'm not saying there wasn't plenty of vitriol toward President Trump and his policies, but the massive downtown Glens Falls version of the nationwide "No Kings" protest found many participants in a joyful mood. In taking photos like the one above, I saw many people smiling.

We had already been to the Farmers Market on South Street where the crowd was large and the mood merry in the new "Ed" pavilion.

After "No Kings," we moseyed up the block to the LARAC June Arts Fest, which likewise was thriving. (See photos on page 18.) Along the way, we saw lots of customers in restaurants and businesses.

The cloudy, misty day was comfortable, and downtown brimmed with its new energy.

How about giving younger people a seat at the table!

To the Editor:

I'd like to provide comment on the write up and YouTube recording on the meeting about tourism in Warren County. I used to work in this industry and find time and time again that the conversation focuses on attract-

Backs 'right to die' bill; 'saw suffering of terminal illness'

To the Editor:

Unless I missed it, I was disappointed there wasn't an article in The Chronicle about the recent NY Assembly lawmakers split decision on Bill A136 known as the Medical Aid in Dying Act, which passed in the Assembly on

Thanks, Zander, for 'true journalism' in Yuriy Zinovyev story

Morning Mark,

My wife and I would like to extend our compliments to Zander regarding the Yuriy Zinovyev story. He demonstrated true journalism by researching and presenting both sides in a responsible, unbiased, and factual man-

'Disappointed in lack of Chronicle Pride Month coverage'

Dear Mark,

I do not know what future stories you have planned for this month, but I have to say that I'm disappointed in The Chronicle's lack of coverage, thus far, of Pride Month and the Gay Pride activities which have taken place around the
