Glens Falls Firefighter Micki Guy, 50, was critically injured as firefighters were departing the Broad Street Station at about 8 p.m. Thursday, April 9, responding to a structure fire.

She sustained a severe head trauma and was 'critical but stable' Tuesday at Albany Medical Center.

Widespread unconfirmed reports say she fell from the passenger side of the truck as it was leaving the station. New York State Police are handling the accident investigation. "We just don't know yet," said City Communications Director Steve Thurston, about details.

first to Glens Falls Hospital, then to Albany Medical Center.

Mayor Diana Palmer, members of the fire company and Micki's family went down to Albany with her that first night.

"We are hopeful," Michelle Guy, the firefighter's mother, told The Chronicle from Albany Med on Monday.

"We're seeing tiny advances. She's still not awake, but she's holding steady. And every once in a while she does a little something that makes us happy, because it shows that she's still there."

"The doctors say that where she is just where they expect, for the trauma that she's had. It's going to be a long, long re-

SUNY Adk prez pledge: End the deficits

By Mark Frost

Chronicle Editor

SUNY Adirondack has experienced a plunge in enrollment, and its operating deficit ballooned by more than a million dollars in the past year.

Anastasia L. Urtz, J.D., the college's new president, and Keith Kaplan, its vice-president administrative services/treasurer, delivered the sobering news to Warren County's Higher Education Committee.

But Dr. Urtz pledged to fix the problems, underlining her determination with personal details.

"I've been here since July," she told the supervisors.

"So imagine the day in August when Keith walked in and said, 'Remember that $333,000 plan deficit we had? Well, it's actually $1.4 million.'

"What I would like this body to know — and thank you for changing the meeting, my father passed away last week — my dad retired in December after 51 years of being the supervisor of the town that I grew up in [Lee in Oneida County].

"And that is a town where he eliminated all the town taxes, where he left reserves of mil-
