

Romeos buy the Garden Time property

By Mark Frost
Chronicle Editor

After 51 years and two generations, the Troestra family has sold their Garden Time property to the automotive Romeo family of Glens Falls.

The garden center will continue operating this year.

"I'll be open for business right up through October 31st," Frank Troelstra told

Final season for the Troelstras' Garden Center; their Outdoor Structures biz will continue, so will The Silo at Exit 19; Romeo automotive family builds their presence on Quaker Road.

The Chronicle. "So I'll still go through the mum season, the pumpkin season, the fall season, but I'll no longer sell poinsettias. No more Christmas trees. And I think we have to be out of here by April. Totally

Rabies found in beaver, raccoon and bat

By Ben Westcott
Chronicle Staff Writer

Lake George and Washington County have had four confirmed cases of rabies in wild animals in the past two weeks.

A beaver bit two people in the water on Lake George near Turtle Island July 4.

The New York State Department of Environmental Conservation recovered a deceased beaver near Turtle Island July 9 that tested positive for rabies, but the agency stressed it cannot confirm it's the beaver that bit two people.

On July 10, Washington County Public Health announced three confirmed cases of rabies "over the past several days" involving two
