What next for Nettle Meadow?

Artisan cheese maker shuts down; hopes to revive in Finger Lakes but much smaller

By Mark Frost
Chronicle Editor

Talk about a small business longshot.

In 2005 Sheila Flanagan was an attorney in Oakland, California, and Lorraine Lambiase was a legal secretary/paralegal when they bought the then 50-acre Nettle Meadow farm in rural Warren County — Town of Thurman — with the dream to raise goats and sheep and make cheese. (They also wanted to get back east, where they're both from and have family.)

Ms. Flanagan said within a few months she "crunched the numbers" and realized, "Oh my God, this is terrible, financially terrible."

She said the law firm still wanted her, "so I flew to Oakland on Sunday nights. And I flew back here on Friday nights."

After a few months, that wasn't tenable. She exited the law firm and went all Nettle Meadow. (She retains some law involvement, as the elected Thurman Town Justice.)

"We definitely had our rose-colored glasses on" in starting the business, Ms. Flanagan told The Chronicle in 2022.

"Once we got here, and fall and winter happened, we realized how much work the place needed." She said they'd poured their retirement funds into the venture and taken out a large loan. "Turning back wasn't an

"The 72 square miles that goes from West Mountain to Lake George, South Queensbury, and everything in between — I'm really looking forward to representing all of that community," Democrat Jean Lapper told supporters in her victory remarks at Adirondack Winery on Election Night, Nov. 3.

Ms. Lapper prevailed over Republican William "Billy" VanNess, unofficially by 6,679 to 6,306 votes, to become the new Queensbury Town Supervisor.

She'll succeed John Strough, the six-term supervisor who is

Brian Pilatzke wins handily for GF City Judge

By Cathy DeDe
Chronicle Managing Editor

Democrat Brian Pilatzke won handily over Larry Elmen in the race for Glens Falls City Court Judge — 2,687 to 2,242, by unofficial incomplete results. He won all five wards.

The City Judge serves a 10-year term. Base salary is $216,400, according to City postings for the interim position last spring when Judge Gary Hobbs retired.

Mr. Pilatzke told The Chronicle, "I spent a lot of Saturdays and Sundays meeting with voters, knocking on doors, doing my best to get my name out there, speak to voters and discuss the issues they wanted to see addressed from the City Court,"

"I ran a positive campaign, and I think that resonated with the voters of Glens Falls...I'm gratified to have their support."

Mr. Pilatzke is Assigned Counsel Administrator for the Warren County Public Defender's office, overseeing independent attorneys serving in public defense

GF Democratic Chair Larry Dudley: The 'Blue Wave will be even bigger in 2028'

Asked about Democrat Brian Pilatzke's victory for City Court Judge, Larry Dudley, Glens Falls Democratic Committee chair, told The Chronicle, "Brian won quite comfortably. We expected that. Well, I expected it. I knew it was going to be a big blue wave year.

"I think the next time around in 2028 will be even bigger. I think it will be an even bigger wave nationwide next year, and it's all repudiation of Trump.

"People are really angry at the Republican Party for all the things that have gone on, at so many levels. They own everything that's going on in this country. They're being punished for what they did."

Mr. Dudley says next year, all five Glens Falls seats on the Warren County Board of Supervisors will be up for election — on a separate time frame than the State-mandated even-year election schedule.

"We look forward to competing in all of those. I hope we can have a similar (Democratic) sweep next year like we had this year. It's long overdue.

"Actually, the biggest story here locally I think is what's happened in Queensbury. Jean Lapper getting elected (Supervisor) is a really big deal. I think you're going to see some big changes in Queensbury."

As for Mr. Pilatzke's win, Mr. Dudley said, "It's getting out and hitting the doors and talking to people, so they can see what kind of person you are. Especially in a small city like Glens Falls, voter contact is the gold standard." — Cathy DeDe cases.

He says, "One of the issues I think is important to address is mental health. Currently, Glens Falls City Court has a Drug Court and a Domestic Violence Court, but I think there's more specialized courts that can help address the needs of people who come before the court.

"A Mental Health Court is certainly something that makes a lot of sense. Other City Courts in our judicial district have Mental Health Courts," he said, citing Plattsburgh and Schenectady, for two.

The Chronicle reached out to Mr. Elmen, who is the appointed interim City Court Judge through the end of the year, but had not heard back.

Mr. Elmen was the better known candidate, having previously been the Warren County Attorney as well as now being interim City Judge appointed by Glens Falls Mayor Diana Palmer.

Mayor Palmer crossed party lines to endorse Mr. Elmen. Retired Judges Hobbs, David Krogmann and John Hall all wrote letters to the editor backing Mr. Elmen.

The Warren County Republican and Conservative Committees had both called on Mr. Pilatzke to withdraw from the race citing Essex County Correctional Facility records that "document 54 days [Mr. Pilatzke spent] in custody during 2016."

In our Oct. 22 edition, Mr. Pilatzke emailed in reply to our inquiry: "In 2012, I was arrested with respect to an allegation and charged with Endangering the Welfare of a Child. That charge was dismissed and sealed because there was no merit to the allegation. All Family Court matters in New York State are confidential."

Mr. Pilatzke said now, "It's always up to the voters. It's the issues they care about."

From 2016 to 2024 Mr. Pilatzke was with the Warren County Public Defender's Office, ultimately as first assistant, he says, "handling all manners of criminal matters, in Glens Falls City Court, Warren County and Queensbury Town Court from violations to homicides."

New 'immersive' Yankee Boat House

Yankee Boating Center soft opens its new Yankee Boat House at 3578 Lake Shore Drive in Lake George on Friday, Nov. 13, from 2-4 p.m.

The "8,000-square-foot, immersive marine showroom [was] designed in close collaboration with Adirondack Studios to elevate the boat buying and recreational experience,"the company said.

The "$500,000 private investment" restored an uninsulated metal storage warehouse into "a living homage to classic Lake George boathouses" with "a specialized resin floor designed to mimic the depth and vibrant color of lake water," "a functional indoor dock structure built directly along the showroom floor allowing visitors to walk up and board displayed boats naturally, as if stepping off a slip on the lake," and "a massive, brilliantly lit four-panel lightbox displaying a panoramic view of Lake George."

SGF Holiday Parade back to 1 pm, Nov. 22

Chronicle Managing Editor Cathy DeDe writes: The South Glens Falls Holiday Parade — next week, Sunday, Nov. 22 — will return to a daytime start, at 1 p.m., and follow its usual route north on Route 9 from Kingpin's Alley past Midtown Shopping Center. Last year it started at 5 p.m.

"We're really excited to have the parade back to its traditional time this year at 1 p.m.!" parade chair Megan Quinn tells The Chronicle. "While the evening parade was awesome, it was a just a fun one-time thing and never expected to be permanent."

The South Glens Falls Fire Company organizes the parade. Donations benefit the food pantry at Moreau Community Center and the Toys for Girls and Boys program of local Marine Detachment #2, which will collect donated toys on the parade route. Participant forms were due last week; late entries register asap.

Judge upholds stay on Finance Commissioner law until the case is decided

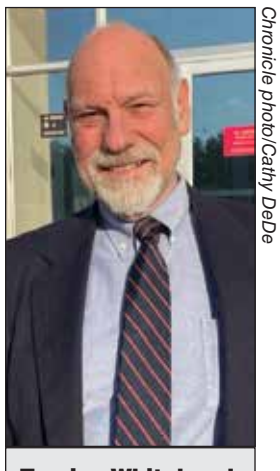

By Cathy DeDe
Chronicle Managing Editor

Warren County Supreme Court Judge Amy Quinn on Friday upheld a temporary stay on Warren County's Local Law No. 7 that creates a new Finance Department and new Commissioner of Finance.

The County must pause enactment of the law until the case brought by Travis Whitehead of Queensbury is resolved, and the judge's order continues that the county spend no further funds toward implementing the law.

The burden was on the County to "show cause" why the Judge's initial stay, issued on the eve of the law's original effective date of November 1, should not continue until the case concludes.

Mr. Whitehead, meanwhile, had to establish a likelihood of success in his suit, and his "standing" to even bring such a suit as an individual.

Mr. Whitehead's claim is that Local Law 7, enacted by the County Board essentially behind closed doors without public discussion or input, he said, causes him harm — as a "resident, taxpayer and voter" of Warren County — by removing his right to vote on a matter that he maintains requires a public referendum, according to state law.

He cited open meetings law, and his contention that Local Law 7 sufficiently changes the duties of an elected official to require a public referendum.

Assistant Warren County Attorney Ryan Dickie represented the Board of Supervisors and its Chair Kevin Geraghty in the hearing. He was accompanied by labor attorney Earl Redding of Albany law firm Roemer, Wallens, Gold & Mineaux.

Mr. Dickie argued, "The voter would have to show concrete injury separate from another voter," and that there's no specific monetary injury or other specific injury to the claimant, Mr. Whitehead.

Judge Quinn asked, "You don't think disenfranchisement is an injury?"

She said "Who would enforce this claim, if not a voter?"

The judge determined that Mr. Whitehead does have standing.

As to likelihood of success, Judge Quinn said this was not a hearing on the merits of the case, but an assessment of its potential merits.

Reiterating his summary of the County's enactment of Local Law 7, Mr. Whitehead argued, "The public was left in the dark."

Shirt Factory will host GF Farmers' Market May-Oct.

The home of the Glens Falls Farmers' Market from May through October on Saturday mornings will be The Shirt Factory on Lawrence Street — "a new home, more room to grow, and an exciting next chapter for our hometown market," which the organization said on Facebook will be "our largest market ever."

The GF market is at Aviation Mall for the winter.

The Glens Falls Farmers Market was formerly at The Ed on South Street, but The Ed is now taken by a separate farmers market — operated by the local Harvest Circle Markets. It operates there year-round.

The Shirt Factory posted on Facebook: "We are happy to be hosting the 51st year of the Glens Falls Farmers' Market starting May 2027."

Readers, on the election

Chronicle editor Mark Frost writes: Our Question of the Week posed to digital subscribers was: What do you make of Tuesday's election result? We received a big diverse response. Here is just some of it.

I think this election sends a much needed message to Republicans in Congress: start doing your job, stop the blatant corruption in the White House, stop the cruelty coming out of the White House and stop the flouting of our Constitution and remember you work for the people and take to heart the message this election sends: "we've had enough!"

— Patricia Lanne, Granville

Look at what's going on in France. Liberal "feel good" policies will take us to France's doorstep. If that's what you want, then keep electing democrats. If we don't learn from history then we are bound to repeat it!

The results of the elections this week? They completely affirm my belief in God and that she continues to help us when we lose our way.

The election went the way, for the most part, that I thought (feared) it would. It was a total referendum against DJT, and the Blue Tsunami is to be laid squarely at his feet. A narcissist to the max, he had no vision or any regard for the mid-terms by fostering the vicious climate that he set. Vicious if you were a Republican Conservative.

I expected much of what happened, but was a bit taken back by the loss of governors races in GA, OH, and KS. That should tell you all you need to know.

This reminds me of 1994 when Bill Clinton was taken out to the woodshed when the Republicans seized total control of Congress for the first time in 42 years.

The difference is that Clinton, while I am nowhere near a fan of his, was crafty, politically savvy, and extremely intelligent. He figured it out quickly, and worked with who was there to get things done.

Donald Trump has done many good things for the country, but he has also allowed his ego to make decisions that have hurt all of us.

They asked JD Vance (who I feel would be a great President) what he thought the reason(s) were for the crushing. He simply said, "The War." I agree.

— John Murray, Hudson Falls

Good morning Mark, As a former registered Republican for 47 years turned Independent after the 2016 elections and election poll worker for the past 3 years, I watched as NY CD21 voters chose a millionaire arrogant wannabe from Amsterdam and apparently defeated a North Country dairy farmer who would be considered one of their own.

While the rest of the country was busy rejecting the insane chaos and corruption, voters here decided to simply vote party line regardless of the caliber and integrity of the candidates they chose.

Unfortunately, folks have become conditioned to engage in identity politics and tribalism, which has unfortunately pitted neighbor against neighbor. Instead of having respectable differences of opinion, we have demonized one another over different points of view.

From a technically strategic perspective, the voters here have hurt their own interests as Constantino, while a loud boisterous personality, will be ignored and have no influence in bringing back much needed federal funding needed for the constituents he represents.

— Brian Kearney, Fort Ann

Hello Mark,

This election showed the country and its people that Democracy does work and that we should believe in it.

The people of these United States were unhappy, angry and frightened about what was happening under the current administration. They used what the Founding Fathers designed for us, a system that gave everyone a voice to use in such a circumstance.

WE stood up and VOTED and now we have hope and faith back that the system works. We can TRUST our Democracy to work and maybe now that we have been through this test, it will work better and we can all be involved. Common sense and civility can be ours again.

I hope that in the interest of cooperation and collaboration, the Republicans will take steps to show we can unite again and work to be the leader of the free world. STOP THE WAR IN IRAN before the Democrats take possession of Congress and erase the tariffs and save the economy! Be heros, not losers!

— Bonita Hagan, Glens Falls

As far as I am concerned the do nothings won, parasitic leaches and non productive individuals won. Every hard working productive worker that pays any kind of income or property tax lost big time. The only way that socialism works is with the government sucking the life blood out of working individuals to give to others.

Death of their dog that went missing at day camp prompts family to create a not-for-profit to aid animals

By Ben Westcott
Chronicle Staff Writer

Jason and Kent Nelson of Queensbury founded an animal safety non-profit after their golden retriever Wilson went missing while in the care of canine outdoor adventure camp Adirondack Sniffari and was found dead eight days later atop a pile of downed trees and brush extending across a creek at Gray's Crossing State Park in Ballston Spa.

"On Sept. 2, at approximately 9:41 a.m., Wilson was picked up by Adirondack Sniffari for his day camp," Nelson stated in a press release. "His family never saw him alive again."

The Chronicle reached out to Adirondack Sniffari but did not hear back.

The Nelsons' press release said, "According to the account provided to the family, Wilson and three other dogs entered a creek over a ledge approximately four to five feet high.

From Jason Nelson's Facebook page

Wilson, a golden retriever, was lost at camp, founded dead a week later.

"The family was told the dogs had been in the water for only a few moments when Wilson 'went missing.'"

"The family was also told that the camp counselor then left the location with the other three dogs to place them in a vehicle" and "Wilson remained unaccounted for, with a 30-foot leash attached to him, while the counselor was away from the location where he had last been seen for approximately 20 minutes."

"Eight days of searching followed, with volunteers, search teams, and community members giving their time and resources to help bring Wilson home," said the release. A $2,500 reward was offered for Wilson's safe return or recovery.

But "On the morning of Thursday, Sept. 10, Wilson's body, with the 30-foot leash still attached, was discovered atop a pile of downed trees and brush extending across the creek, near the location where he reportedly had last been seen.

"The family had been told that this area had been searched. The circumstances surrounding Wilson's disappearance, the intervening days, and his eventual discovery remain incompletely explained."

Jason Nelson told The Chronicle, "After about three days of Wilson going missing, the Adirondack Sniffari staff ceased com-

Jean Lapper elected in Qby.

retiring. Ms. Lapper has been his appointed Deputy Supervisor since spring of 2025.

"I'm pleased to be able to step forward after having lived here for 40 years, to really be able to serve a community that I love," Ms. Lapper told The Chronicle this week.

"I know I'm not John Strough. I'm not going to dress up as Joseph Warren," she quipped, referring to Mr. Strough's role as a local historian.

"I'm really pleased that he took the time to mentor me over the last year and a half, to teach me about how Queensbury works, to give me some broader understanding of how the the town government works, and I'm going to move on from there."

"It still some days feels a little unreal. It will be a big change in my day-to-day life, but I'm very excited. I'm grateful to all the support, both the people who helped me campaign, and all the people who also invited me into their organizations to talk to them to hear what they need.

"I know it's a lot of work, but I've been in the town doing the work. I've been paying attention to the county for a long time, so I understand that. I'm not afraid of hard work.

"It's just been such a terrific learning experience, both as a deputy and a candidate. It makes me want to do this job even more."

Ms. Lapper said she plans to lay out her goals, "in the next couple of weeks."

"I feel fortunate that the night before election day, we passed our budget for 2027. We're holding the tax rate at the same level as 2026, and we have a really strong budget. I worked with the budget officer and Town Supervisor and met with all of the department heads during the process so that makes for a really good start.

"I'm working with John Strough on the transition, and we're moving, in Zone One in Jenkinsville, to get them water by the end of the year. I'll put forward the rest of my plans later in December.

At the County level, she said "I spoke with (Board Chair) Kevin Geraghty briefly after the Supervisors meeting on Friday. I'll let you know in the next couple of weeks where I think the best places are for me, and hopefully that'll line up with what's needed at the county as well."

Says Qby. Democrats chose 'to step up for democracy' by running

"In past election cycles, we've just kind of handed over the power to people who have run unopposed," Queensbury Supervisor-Elect Jean Lapper said in her victory speech Tuesday at Adirondack Winery in Queensbury.

She said that early this year she and fellow Democrats decided, "Given the time in the country, in our community, it was important for people to step up, to give people a choice, and to also stand up for our values, primarily, you know, upholding our democracy.

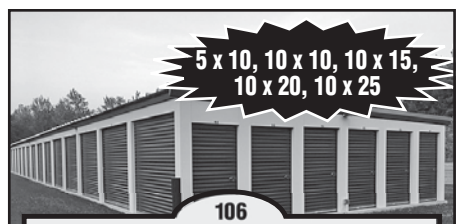

"Who thought, in 2026 — I didn't think in my lifetime — that I'd be so concerned about some very basic rights that we're thinking about here in the United States right now.

"We didn't like seeing that filter down into local politics. Locally, we want to govern our town, take care of our town, and leave the politics aside.

"As a result of that meeting, we did end up with seven people running in the town of Queensbury. That was the energy we brought, also to the State Senate campaign, to the Assembly campaign, to the Congressional campaign."

Their dog that died

munication with us. After we publicly shared we found Wilson's body on Sept. 10, we did not hear a word from anyone at Adirondack Sniffari."

Asked about blame for Wilson's death, Jason said, "We'd rather not judge this yet. We are awaiting the necropsy report to be available."

He said Wilson had been going to Adirondack Sniffari for about a year without issue. "Wilson was the sweetest, most loving boy. He brought immeasurable joy into our lives," Mr. Nelson posted on Facebook.

The non-profit the Nelsons founded is Wilson's Legacy Animal Protection and Advocacy. It is "calling on the Warren County Board of Supervisors to develop and adopt an Animal Abuser Registry law modeled on Saratoga County's Local Law 2-2025."

"Wilson was family and we are determined that his death will not be in vain," Mr. Nelson was quoted in the press release. "We cannot bring him home, but we can work to protect other animals."

Mr. Nelson told The Chronicle, "We've received a handful of responses from the Warren County Supervisors.

"On Oct. 20, we were advised that the Warren County Animal Abuser Registry Law came before the Criminal Justice Committee. [Supervisor Ben Driscoll of Glens Falls] said the matter should come before the full board during the next couple of months."

The Facebook post thanked "the hundreds of people who shared Wilson's posts, searched, called in tips, checked cameras and properties, offered resources, donated, prayed, sent messages and kept our boy in your thoughts."

"During some of the darkest and most agonizing days of our lives, this community surrounded us with an extraordinary amount of love," the post said. "Complete strangers cared about Wilson as though he were their own."

He was born on May 14, 1951, in Glens Falls, NY, to the late Carmel and Margaret Fusco Young.

Nettle Meadow closes; seeks a path forward

Eventually, Nettle Meadow made a go of it, and their cheeses developed a national and international reputation.

In March 2022, their Kunik — a Nettle Meadow cheese made from goat's milk and cow cream — was voted "one of the top 20 cheeses in the world" in the 34th biennial World Championship Cheese Contest® in Wisconsin.

At peak, Nettle Meadow produced about 40 different types of cheese, using goat, sheep and cow's milk — 15 semi-aged bloomy rind cheeses, 5 washed rind cheeses, and about 20 fresh cheeses.

Confident, in 2020 Nettle Meadow took another leap and bought the treasured but deteriorated log Hitching Post building on Route 9N in Lake Luzerne.

Two weeks later the Covid lockdown was imposed. "There were so many dark days," said Ms. Flanagan. She recalls thinking in 2020, "This is the end. This was the fatal mistake.'"

By 2022, though, she could say, "There's some 'meant to be' in this spot. So many weddings happened here. Everybody has a memory of this place and it's nice to see it open again. It was definitely on its last leg when we bought it."

Nettle Meadow carried on through the pandemic, tapping employee retention grants and making cheese nearly every day of the year in Thurman as the rehab of the Hitching Post building proceeded.

In February 2022, all the cheese-making moved to the Hitching Post building, enabling Nettle Meadow to quadruple production and employ eight to 10 cheese makers.

The cheesemaking — sheltered but viewable behind glass — was at the back of the building. Up front, they reopened the Hitching Post's classic 1939 bar.

This past September the tavern closed. In October so did the cheese making.

On Nov. 1 The Chronicle interviewed Ms. Flanagan in an e-mail exchange.

Has anything changed since you made the announcement about closing? We have had a little more interest in the sale of the farm, and we are very grateful for that. Finding the right buyer would be a tremendous help as we work through this transition and, most importantly, make sure our remaining animals are cared for.

Is there hope to carry on, even on a smaller scale? Yes, I hope so. We are working with Lively Run Dairy in the Finger Lakes to see if they might be able to continue a couple of our recipes, and I am currently collaborating with them on some test batches. We are hopeful that something may come of that.

On a personal level, I am also hoping to move farther southwest into the Finger Lakes region and eventually open a small storefront micro-creamery.

As I get older, and as I see how difficult it has become to find and retain skilled cheesemakers in this industry, I believe a much smaller, more focused model is the best path forward for me. My hope is to have something new in the works within the next year.

It would be very different from what Nettle Meadow has been, but I don't think I am quite ready to stop making cheese.

How are you feeling?

Devastated. This has been 22 years of incredibly hard work, but also work that we have deeply loved, and to have it come to such an abrupt end is heartbreaking.

We are enormously grateful for those 22 years and for everything we were able to build and the countless animals we saved, but this particular moment is very, very hard for all of us — especially the people who have devoted years of their lives to our animals, our cheese, and Nettle Meadow.

What were the factors that led to the need to close?

There wasn't one single thing. So many factors simply came together at once.

We had increasing difficulty finding enough good help during the summer months, which meant we had to limit our hours and our ability to promote the restaurant. That, in turn, limited the summer sales we rely on so heavily to carry us through the winter.

At the same time, our debt wasn't coming down quickly enough and our bills continued to pile up. Insurance and electricity became enormous expenses, and we were heading into another winter with heating oil and all of the additional costs that come with operating a farm and creamery in Upstate New York.

A few years ago, we partnered with a French company because we understood that relationship would provide a path forward for Nettle Meadow. Instead of making good on their promises, we ultimately spent more money on their demands to obtain their investment than

Seeking homes for sanctuary animals

Beyond their Nettle Meadow cheese making business, partners Sheila Flanagan and Lorraine Lambiase operate the Kemp Animal Sanctuary at their original farm location in Thurman.

At its peak it was home to some 200 goats and sheep, as well as horses, cats, llamas, donkeys, chickens, miniature pigs and even peacocks.

Now, as Nettle Meadow winds down, they're seeking people to adopt the remaining animals in the sanctuary.

"Your initial [Chronicle Facebook] post was incredibly helpful in finding homes for nine of our sanctuary animals, and we are so grateful," Ms. Flanagan told us. "We still have 31 animals looking for homes, so any continued help getting the word out would mean a great deal to us."

At an earlier point, she said, "The critters still searching for homes are -

1 elderly bunny
1 rooster
1 female duck
1 male duck
2 turkeys
4 potbelly pigs
7 female goats
9 neutered male goats
3 neutered rams
4 ewes
2 older horses

"We had found homes for three horses, 2 llamas, a rooster, a mini pig and and 3 ewes this past weekend."

"Thank you again for caring about our story and, especially, for helping us find homes for our sanctuary animals. It has meant more to us than you know."

Marjorie Lorraine McDougall, 88

Argyle — Marjorie Lorraine McDougall, 88, passed away on November 9, 2026, at Glens Falls Hospital with her loving family by her side.

Born on July 1, 1938, in Jackson, NY, she was the daughter of the late Frederick and Grace (Qua) Decker.

Marjie graduated from Cambridge High School and went on to receive her bachelor's degree from Oneonta College.

On December 10, 1966, Marjie married the love of her life, David McDougall in Argyle.

She devoted 40 years to education, working for several school districts before retiring from the Hudson Falls School District. Marjie dedicated herself fully to everything she pursued, bringing immense hard work and commitment to her roles as a solar representative, realtor, social worker, and educator. A long-time member of the Argyle Presbyterian Church, Marjie also sang in the church choir.

She had a deep passion for flowers and gardening, tending to 60 plants and trees in her sunroom—including a ten-foot-tall orange tree. She created floral arrangements for proms and weddings, worked with silk flowers, and loved spending time outdoors watching wildlife (and chasing them out of her garden).

Her love for the outdoors extended to maple season. She actively helped her husband tap trees, run lines, and boil sap to create the final product. Marjie enjoyed cooking with maple syrup and collected cookbooks from nearly every maple-producing state.

Additionally, she participated in local farmers' markets and had a special love for the Colonial Fest at Hudson Falls School and served as the Washington County Fair Superintendent of the handmade and homegrown building for 30 years. She enjoyed baking sourdough bread and watching Gunsmoke. Above all, she cherished driving her grandchildren home from school every day—proudly noting that she only drove 600 miles a year and was late just once in 14 years.

In addition to her parents, Marjie was predeceased by her brother, Ron Decker and several brothers-in-law and a sister-in-law.

At the family's request there will be no calling hours.

A Funeral Service will be conducted at 11am on Friday, November 13, 2026, at the Argyle Presbyterian Church, 48 Main Street, Argyle, NY 12809.

Burial will be private and at the convenience of the family.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations can be made to Argyle Presbyterian Church, c/o Memorial Fund, P.O. Box 66, Argyle, NY 12909.

Arrangements are in the care of M.B. Kilmer Funeral Home, 123 Main Street, Argyle, NY 12809. To leave online condolences, please visit www.kilmerfuneralhome.com.

Nettle Meadow

we could sustain and eventually ended that business relationship as it became clear that that their investment would not come to fruition.

In many ways, that probably should have been the last gasp for us, but we were determined to find a way for our little New York cheese company to survive.

With extraordinary help from family and friends, we managed to sustain it for another year. We did work for over a year trying to find another investor to make things work.

Unfortunately, we are not alone. A number of wonderful, award-winning New York cheesemakers have closed in recent years, and sadly Nettle Meadow has now become one among them.

In August, I also had my own health scare after pushing myself to the brink trying to keep everything going. That was another reminder that, no matter how hard we worked or how much we loved what we were doing, we simply weren't moving in a sustainable direction.

At some point, determination alone isn't enough to overcome the numbers.

Is there anything you would have done differently?

I tell my younger friends in the cheese world all the time now: take on less debt. Yes, you need money to make money, particularly in cheesemaking, where equipment, facilities, milk, aging inventory and regulatory requirements all require significant investment.

But you have to count every penny carefully and resist the temptation to grow too quickly.

Focus on slow, deliberate growth. Focus relentlessly on quality. And just as importantly, focus on efficiency.

Making extraordinary cheese is the heart of what we do, but building a business that can afford to keep making that cheese is just as important.

If there is one lesson I would pass along after 22 years, it is that sustainability has to be built into the business from the very beginning.

Editor's note: This article draws from one that Sandra Hutcinson did about Nettle Meadow in 2022.

Black Bear new owner

McSweeney's Irish Pub of Indian Lake said it has purchased the Black Bear Restaurant in Pottersville, which closed last month. "Honoring the legacy of former owners Butch and the late Patti Stetson," they plan to blend McSweeney's food, cocktails and atmosphere with the Black Bear's long-established role in the community, Owner Dave McSweeney with manager Amy Quant.

The restaurant has kitchen service daily, 6:30 a.m.-9 p.m. The bar is expected to open soon, said McSweeney's, with a new eight-line draft beer system, and other improvements.

"Many former Black Bear staff members are staying on," they said.

They said they'll retain such Black Bear favorites as turkey dinners, fresh-cooked turkey and corned beef, fish & chips, Irish egg rolls, Shepherd's pie, and Irish Rodeo Burger with their Guinness BBQ sauce.

Frank Waldren Brown, 85

GLENS FALLS - Frank Waldren Brown, 85, passed away at home in Glens Falls, New York, on November 4, 2026, after a brief illness, surrounded by his loving family.

Born on January 24, 1941, in Glens Falls, New York, Frank Waldren Brown spent his life rooted in the community where he was born and where he later passed away. He was a quiet, reserved, and loving man whose presence was known best by those closest to him and by the steady way he lived his life.

Frank worked for the City of Glens Falls Department of Public Works for more than 20 years. He remained dedicated to his work until his retirement at age 65. His years with the DPW reflected a long commitment to the city he called home. Outside of work, Frank was known for the interests he pursued with enthusiasm and care. He loved his 1970 Pontiac GTO, a car he drove and displayed at several car shows, where he won numerous trophies. That vehicle was a special source of pride and enjoyment for him, and it became one of the many ways others came to know him.

Frank also loved metal detecting and spent many hours searching for and collecting items of interest. Over the years, he accumulated numerous finds, including many rings that he returned to their owners when he was able. He also kept a large collection of discoveries, including arrowheads, musket balls, and rare coins. This pastime brought together his patience, curiosity, and appreciation for the past in a way that was distinctly his own.

Family was an important part of Frank's life. He shared 60 years of marriage with his wife, Carol "Cora" Brown. He is also remembered by his daughter, Susan Brown (Jim); his grandson, Cody Brown; his favorite niece and caregiver, Barbie Weaver; and several other nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, George Brown and Susie Waldron; his sister, Alice O'Sick; and his brother, George Brown Jr.

Frank Waldren Brown will be remembered for a life lived with quiet devotion, enduring interests, and deep ties to Glens Falls. His memory will remain with those who knew and loved him.

A graveside ceremony will be held on November 18, 2026, at 11:00 AM at Bay Street Cemetery, Glens Falls.

Condolences and floral arrangements may be sent directly to Baker Funeral Home, 11 Lafayette St., Queensbury, NY 12804, or through www.bakerfuneralhome.com.

Kevin Thompson

On September 4, 1964 the world was blessed by the arrival of Kevin Thompson, son of Dan and Eleanor. As he liked to tell it, his mother said he came into the world as if "shot from guns", the most fitting entrance for the man he became. One of 7 children, Kevin attended and graduated from Queensbury high school and pursued a career In HVAC. He worked for many years with Dave and Joan Williams at the Furnace Outlet and Hardware, followed by several decades as the owner and operator of Thompson's Heating.

Kevin was a true light in this world, a pure soul. He had the most contagious smile and laugh. And he loved, everyone and everything around him deeply, and always wanted to make others laugh and feel at ease. He loved Ozzy and Lemmy, Aerosmith, and Rush. He loved being in the woods, out on the lake, and especially metal detecting. He loved breaking the rules, and most of all, he loved living life on his own terms.

As his daughter, I was blessed by every second I had with him in this life. We listened to all his favorite vinyl records. He never missed a field hockey game, a dance class, or a school occasion. And we talked about everything, from life and love to football and music and the afterlife. He was my best friend and confidant until the end. Kevin taught me how to be a good person in this life. In his memory, I'm going to be the best parent I can be.

As for his many other "kids", Kevin loved my friends and cousins, his nieces and nephews, like his own. And boy oh boy, did he love his "son", my husband Josh, and his grandkids, Maeve and Daniel, with whom I selfishly only wish he had more time.

But alas, I only had the honor to know Kevin as dad. To so many others he was a partner, a brother, a son, and a friend.

He will be forever missed by his true companion and forever love, Heidi Durkee, with whom he shared 26 beautiful years. Together, they made a lifetime of memories, cherished time boating on Lake George, countless adventures, and caring for their beloved kitties. The love they had will not fade away.

Kevin will also be greatly missed by his brothers and sisters, Brian (Tammy), Annie, Chris (Maria), Katie, Elizabeth, and his best friend, Danny (Margan). And most of all his mom Eleanor, who he loved so much, and will be waiting for, alongside his father Dan.

In lieu of a traditional funeral service, which just wasn't his style, we ask for the gift of stories. Kevin was a wonderful storyteller and he loved stories from his friends and his customers, especially his older customers who he knew for many years. If you have a favorite story or memory of my dad, Kevin, we would be so grateful if you can share. Please email to;

Gerald E. Morehouse Jr.

Gerald E. Morehouse Jr. of Hudson Falls, New York born on November 20th 1950, passed away at the Pines Nursing Center on July 30th surrounded by his family, after a lengthy and courageous battle with Alzheimer's disease.

Jerry was born in Cambridge, NY to Gerald E. Morehouse Sr. and Arlene J. Morehouse (Hazelton). He attended Hudson Falls High School and went on to graduate from Adirondack Community College and SUNY Brockport, after obtaining his Bachelor's degree in sociology.

Jerry is survived by his wife of 55 years Maureen Strohmeyer Morehouse with whom he enjoyed a wonderful life. Their relationship truly was an example of love and commitment. He is also survived by his son Paul F. Morehouse along with grandsons Jacob and Lucas Morehouse. They were lucky enough to enjoy his sense of humor, and a shared love of grilling, sports and outdoor activities.

He is survived by a brother Mark Morehouse of Florida and sister Louise Dwinell of New Hampshire. In-laws; James and Judy Strohmeyer, Michael and Claire Strohmeyer, Ted and Teresa Wilson and Bill and Kristin Strohmeyer. Along with many wonderful nieces and nephews and cousins.

Jerry was employed by the CP/D&H Railway for 35 years from which he retired in 2010. He worked as a track foreman and performed it well. Jerry commented that his "job allowed him to be outdoors every day", which he loved.

Jerry was an enthusiastic outdoorsman who enjoyed fly fishing, whitetail deer hunting (both with his gun and bow), camping, hiking, biking and gardening. He was always eager for his next outdoor adventure. Jerry always made time for his grandsons including trips to Disney, the little league field or a hill for sledding. Family trips to Wells Maine were a yearly event. Jerry's adventures led him to fly fishing in Montana and bow hunting in Colorado. Watching his family grow and spend time together was a genuine pleasure for Jerry.

To our son Paul with heartfelt love for the last two years, caring for his father with love, compassion and patience. Because of Paul's commitment, his father remained happily at home amongst his family.

Heartfelt thanks to Ted, Teresa and Ryan Wilson for many hours spent caring for us.

Our family would like to thank Dr. Love for years of care, and also the staff at the Pines for their care and compassion.

A Celebration of Life will be held on Saturday, November 28, 2026 from 12 to 3 pm. Please join us at the West Glens Falls Volunteer Fire Company #1 at 33 Luzerne Road, Queensbury, NY 12804.

I would tell a little kid starting school to try your best and don't give up. It's okay if you don't get something right, you learn from your mistakes. Another thing I would tell them is be respectful to your teachers and listen. You are going to have the best year EVER.

Fun, sometimes hard

I would tell a little kid starting school that it is fun sometimes but sometimes it is hard. Also you should enjoy it because you will not be able to go back in time. Also listen to your teacher and she will help you with hard work.

LG will host its first Ironman triathlon 2027 money — $200,000 in 2027, $210,000 in 2028, $220,500 in 202. The Town of Lake George commited an additional $250,000 annually.

"This event's been a long time coming for us behind the scenes," said Ironman Global Operations Senior Director Scott Straugh. "We knew immediately upon coming here, looking at the views, looking at the region, looking at the destination, and the community behind this event, we knew this was going to be something spectacular."

Ironman Operations Manager Matt DiMola said, "Lake George is the Queen of the American lakes — and soon to be the Queen of the North American portfolio."

He said registration for the race filled within six and a half hours of going live. "That's something really special," he said.

"This is a real full circle moment for me," Mr. DiMola added.

"I grew up downstate in Rockland County and used to come up here on vacations with my family. It's such a great place to be and put on an event. So being here…is more than just putting another triathlon on in the Northeast. It's something that really hits close to home.

"What we're here to do is put on a world class event. We only get a shot at a first impression once. So this coming June we're going to give the best first impression that anyone's ever seen…."

Mr. Straugh said, "This destination is super attractive to our athletes, and everybody in the Adirondack region is going to really be proud once they get to be here.

"It's going to be super fun, not only for the athletes, but for all the volunteers and everybody involved.

"Our athletes may be the stars of race day, but our volunteers are the heart and soul of the event. We want to engage local schools, communities, organizations, any type of group that wants to come out and be a part of this event.

"Ultimately, we don't measure success by how many athletes cross the finish line. We measure it by the relationships we build and the positive impact we leave behind. We're excited about what we can accomplish together, and we look forward to building something really special here."

He said, "Our Ironman Foundation has contributed significant charitable feedback over the years, and there is a lot that we want to give back to this community."

Warren County Tourism Director Heather Bagshaw said, "We are already seeing excitement around overnight bookings, and we anticipate a significant economic impact for our hotels, restaurants, attractions, and local businesses."

Melanie Weber, board chair of EDC Warren County, said, "Think about the number of athletes, families and supporters who will come here. They're going to train on our roads and swim in our waters, but they will also stay in our hotels, eat at our restaurants, shop in our shops, drink in our breweries, explore our towns, and make memories here.

"And hopefully, just like all of us, they'll fall in love with this area and come back. Maybe for a future race or a family vacation, or maybe one day they'll decide this is a place they want to call home, or start a business, or build a life. That is economic impact that goes well beyond race weekend."

An Ironman finisher herself, Ms. Weber added, "The Ironman experience, for anyone who's had a chance to cross the finish line at one of these races, is something special that you can't really describe, and sticks with you for a long time.

"For me, it's about the people you meet, the community that gathers around you, and a sense of accomplishment that you carry long after the event's over. That's why I think bringing Ironman to Lake George is so exciting."

Lake George Town Supervisor Vinnie Crocitto said, "This is an exciting opportunity for our businesses, our residents, and the entire region. On June 13, athletes will swim in the pristine waters of Lake George, Queen of American Lakes. They'll run through miles of the most scenic roads in Warren County, and they'll finish amongst cheering fans in downtown Lake George. May this be the start of a long and successful partnership."

Lake George Village Mayor Ray Perry said, "Ironman brand represents more than just endurance. Around the world, Ironman events bring together communities and inspire people to achieve goals that they once thought were impossible.

"We are a community that embraces challenges, celebrates achievements, and takes pride from welcoming visitors from around the world. That's why the partnership between Lake George and Ironman seems like such a natural fit. This event will bring tremendous energy and opportunity to our community while introducing countless new visitors to everything that makes Lake George so special."

George Regional Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Gina Mintzer said, "There will be plenty of ways to get involved as a volunteer, a business partner, or an enthusiastic voice along the course."

The vote shall be by machine or paper ballot, as well as by absentee ballot, early mail ballot and military ballot. The hours during which the polls shall be kept open shall be from 12:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. prevailing time, or for as long thereafter as necessary to enable qualified voters who are in the polling place at 8:00 p.m. to cast their ballots.

Applications for early mail and absentee ballots will be obtainable and are returnable no earlier than November 21, 2026 between the hours of 8:00 AM and 4:00 PM Monday through Friday, except holidays from the District Clerk. Completed applications for early mail and absentee ballots must be received by the District Clerk at least seven (7) days before the Special Vote if the ballot is to be mailed to the voter (December 7, 2026), or the day before the Special Vote, if the ballot is to be delivered personally to the voter (December 15, 2026). Early mail and absentee ballots must be received by the District Clerk not later than 5:00 PM, prevailing time, on December 16, 2026.

A list of persons to whom early mail and absentee ballots are issued will be available for inspection to qualified voters of the District in the office of the District Clerk on and after November 28, 2026 between the hours of 8:00 AM and 4:00 PM on weekdays prior to December 16, 2026, the day set for the Special Vote, and said list will be posted at the polling place. Any qualified voter present in the polling place may challenge the acceptance of the ballot of any person on such list, by making his/her challenge and the reasons therefore known to the Inspector of Election before the close of polls. A challenge against an early mail ballot cannot be based on the reason that the voter should have obtained or applied for an absentee ballot.

The Education Law makes special provisions for absentee voting by "permanently disabled" voters of the District and any questions regarding these rights should be directed to the Clerk of the Board.

The Education Law provides special provisions for absentee voting by "military" voters of the District. Military voters may elect to receive a military ballot application and military ballot by mail, email, or facsimile. The military voter must, however, return his/her original military ballot application and military ballot by mail or in person. The Clerk of the Board shall transmit the military voter's military ballot in accordance with the military voter's preferred method of transmission not later than 25 days before the Special Vote, November 21, 2026. The Clerk of the Board must then receive the military voter's military ballot by mail or in person not later than 5:00 PM on the day of the Special Vote.

The qualified voters of the School District shall be entitled to vote at said Special Vote. A qualified voter is one who is (1) a citizen of the United States of America, (2) eighteen years of age or older, and (3) resident within the School District for a period of thirty (30) days next preceding the Special Vote. The School District may require all persons offering to vote at the Special Vote to provide one form of proof of residency pursuant to Education Law 2018-c. Such forms may include a driver's license, a non-driver identification card, a utility bill, or a voter registration card. Upon offer of proof of residency, the School District may also require all persons offering to vote to provide their signature, printed name and address.

GARVEY'S Women IN BUSINESS

Sisters AT THE WHEEL

SHANNON AND KYLE GARVEY ARE DRIVING The Next Generation Of Garvey

For sisters Shannon Garvey Bruhns and Kyle Garvey, Drive Garvey is more than a business - it's a family legacy they're helping carry into its next chapter.

As Dealer Principals and majority owners, Shannon and Kyle lead with a hands-on approach centered on trust, transparency and creating a better experience for both customers and employees.

For Shannon, that commitment even took her overseas. She spent six weeks in Korea working for Hyundai Capitol learning more about the brand, its culture and the vehicles Garvey Hyundai represents every day.

Kyle drives the growing team forward with over 20 years of commitment to Garvey. Today, nearly half of the team across Garvey's dealerships is made up of women working throughout sales, service, finance, parts, accounting, e-commerce, and detailing.

And the family story continues. Shannon's twins represent another generation growing up around the Garvey business and the values that have helped build it.

For Shannon and Kyle, the goal is simple: honor the Garvey legacy while continuing to evolve it for the customers, employees and communities they serve.

Family-owned. Women-led. BUILT FOR GENERATIONS TO COME.
